Luci, Pat Are Married!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the Romanesque arches of a vast shrine, a full-throated choir fell silent today, an age-old question was put by a priest, and the words "I do" came from the lips of Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick John Nugent.

Thus the daughter of the 36th President became the bride of a college boy reared in a modest, orange bungalow in Waukegan, Ill.

The scene could best be described as monumental.

The National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, world's seventh largest church, gleamed with light filtered through many-colored panes and falling on great mosaics.

Cascades of greenery and white roses marked the pews for the select congregation of 700, composed of friends great and humble of the principals.

The three clergymen of the consecrated Mass, the newlyweds and indeed the tall President himself seemed tiny compared to the high altar, its four polished columns of pink stone rising to its marble canopy.

Moments of high interest succeeded each other rapidly from the time the President, with Luci on his arm, began the 352-foot journey down the aisle. The design of her white gown had until today been a state secret. He wore a cutaway, a garb he had previously disdained to don even for his inauguration.

At the altar rail the President gave his 19-year-old daughter to the keeping of the tall blond bridegroom of 23, who had approached from the right.

Then the President joined the First Lady, who wore yellow, in a front pew on the left side of the aisle, as one looks at the altar. The bridegroom's mother, in aquamarine, and other members of the Nugent family, were in the front pew right.

The bridal couple proceeded to a prie dieu, or satin-covered kneeling bench, within the sanctuary. To their sides and a little to the rear, stood and knelt maid of honor Lynda Bird Johnson and the best man's stand-in, Gerard P. Nugent Sr., father of the bridegroom and of Marine Lt. Gerard P. Nugent Jr., absent on Viet Nam duty. Lynda Bird's pink illusion veil swept to the floor behind her.

Five times the bridal couple left their kneeling bench and repaired to the altar — to say the wedding vows, to present gifts in the form of bread and wine at the offertory, to receive Holy Communion, and twice to receive nuptial blessings from white-robed Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington.

The Rev. John A. Kuzinkas of Chicago, friend of the bridegroom, administered the vows and called "upon all of you here present to be witnesses of this holy union which I have now blessed."

The Gospel according to St. Matthew, wherein the Savior declared husband and wife are "no longer two but one flesh," was proclaimed by the Rev. William J. Kaifer, faculty adviser to Luci when she was a student nurse at Georgetown University.

From a high lectern, Rep. Hale Boggs, a Knight of Columbus from New Orleans, read from St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, admonishing that "each one of you should love his wife just as he loves himself; and the wife should revere her husband."

When the bridal couple and the President and the wedding guests left the church, the 56-bell carillon atop the 329-foot campanile pealed out anew, as it had for an hour before the ceremony.

Girls Battle 'Beatle Ban'

LONDON (AP) — Two American girls called on Britons today to support their "Save the Beatles" campaign in the United States.

Their appeal in an ad in the personal column of the Daily Telegraph, came as the "Ban the Beatles" campaign spread to Spain and South Africa and a new controversy stirred up in Britain.

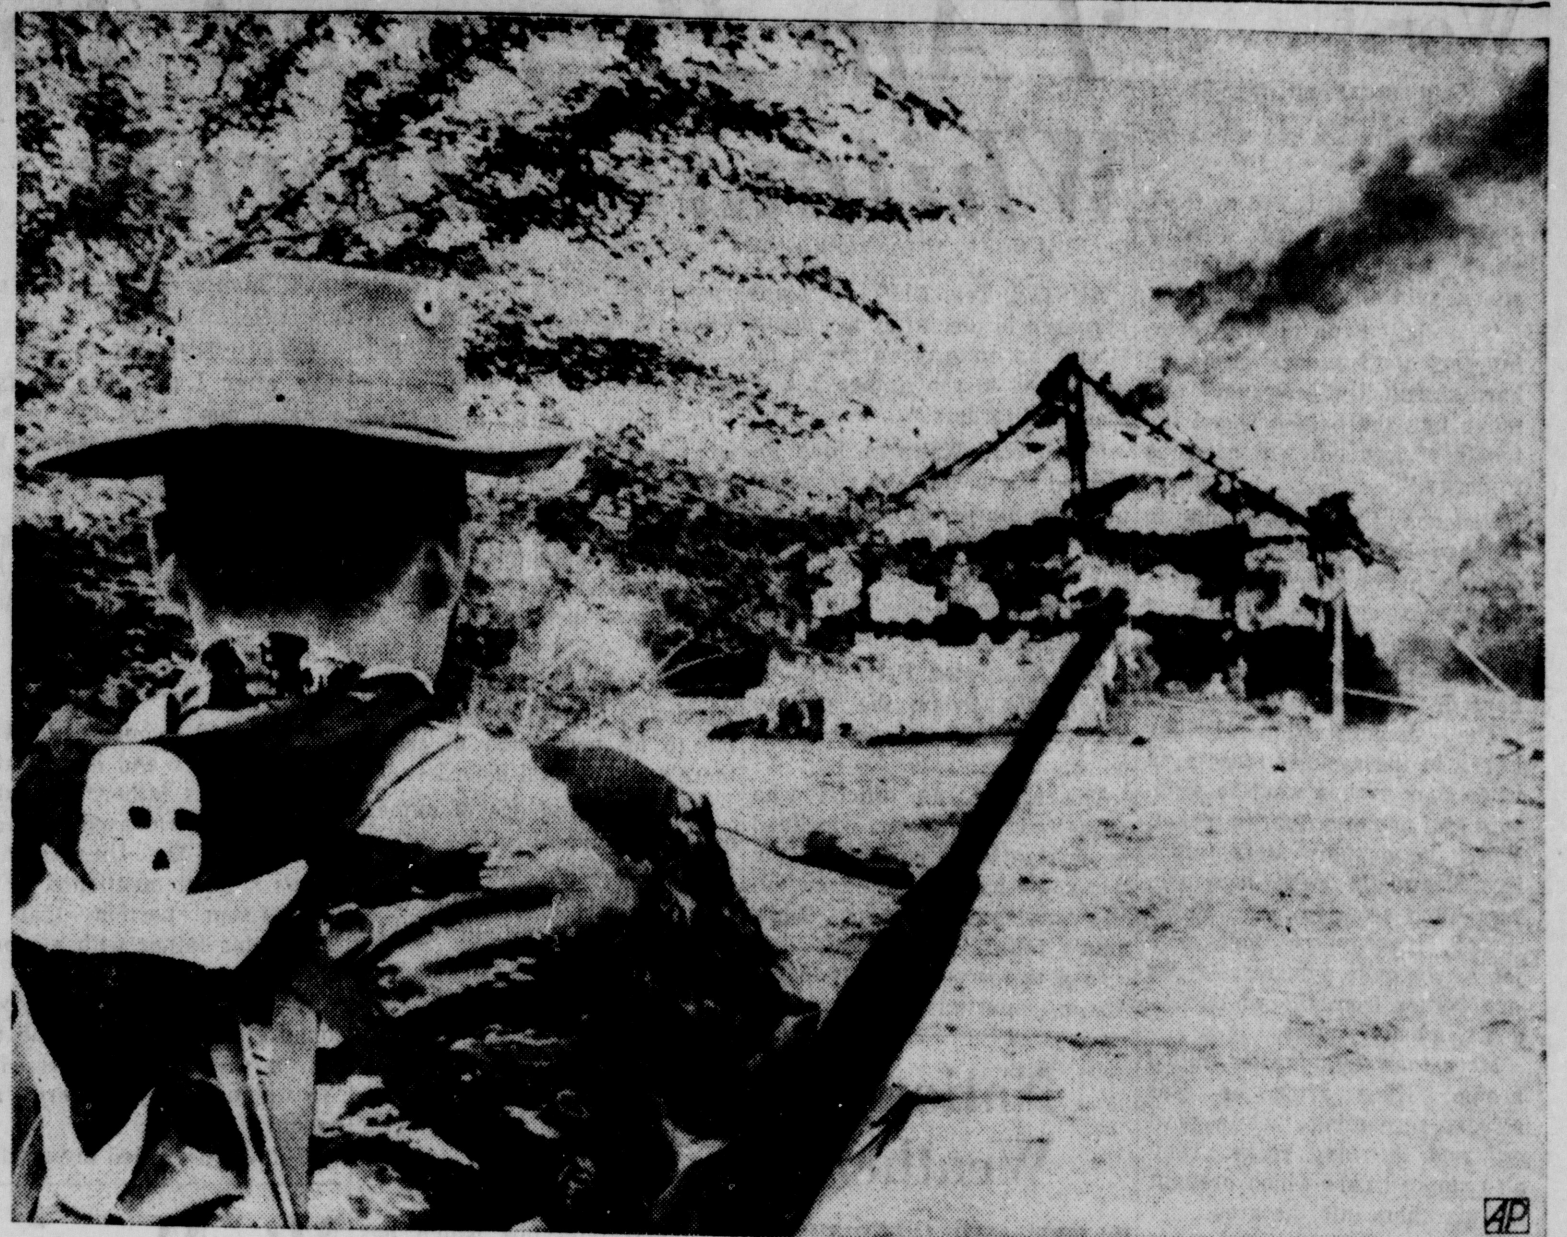

The American girls are Susan Dobbs and Theresa Earles of Hopewell, Va. Their ad said they had founded the "Save the Beatles campaign" in the United States.

It went on: "Dozens of radio stations across the states are banning their records and having bonfires, because of a statement by John Lennon. We have a petition to get them back on the air. Please, England help us, we love them, too."

The 12-line ad cost the girls $33.60.

NEWSROOM NOTES — Out where the air is so clean it's a pleasure to breathe, a clinical research psychologist at the University of Oregon is asking people to hold their breath.

He believes it may enable them to quit smoking.

Dr. Hayden L. Mees tried out his idea on a group of cigarette smokers who wanted to quit, but apparently couldn't as long as they were breathing. And it seemed to work.

One woman who had smoked 30 cigarettes a day for 20 years—it adds up to 210,000 cigarettes—quit entirely. So did four others. And still others cut their smoking by more than half.

The system was simple. Each smoker was asked to hold his or her breath as long as he or she could every time he or she felt like smoking.

In the case of the 30-day lady, this meant she was holding her breath a good part of the time—and obviously holding it good like a breath-holder should.

Dr. Mees, while encouraged by the results of the tests, was not extravagant in his claims.

The experiment, he said, was too restricted to be statistically solid.

Which to the layman sounds as if the doctor may be telling us that this thing looks like it will work, all right, but just don't hold your breath.

The New York Central Railroad is eliminating all its passenger trains between Chicago and New York and other long-haul runs as of Jan. 1, 1967.

It will operate no more overnight sleepers, dining cars or similar luxuries. In their place will be a "Spartan" system of rail travel geared for high-speed travel between points less than 200 miles apart.

So there goes another of the touches we once thought made life in the 20th century a little more pleasant and gracious.

Maybe this is progress. Maybe it and other moves to substitute "Spartan" for "gracious" living are necessary in the go-go space age.

But that WAS a nice ride between Chicago and New York, wasn't it? Sixteen whole hours to relax a little and get there rain or shine, calm or turbulent, foggy or clear.

Revered Regiment Hits Viet Shores

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, which won fame in two world wars, landed in South Viet Nam today and was immediately airlifted to the central highlands, one of this country's major battle-grounds.

The arrival raised U.S. troop strength in Viet Nam to about 290,000 men and highlighted a day in which ground fighting dwindled to sporadic and light actions.

In the air, however, a U.S. spokesman said heavy strikes continued against North Viet Nam — where Red gunners fired 15 Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles at raiding American warplanes Friday.

One of the most successful raids was a sweep at a 40-truck convoy heading south under cover of darkness. Strafing and bombing attacks set 25 of the trucks aflame in strikes Friday night and early today.

The military spokesman said the only fighting reported today was in the highlands west of Pleiku and about five miles from the Cambodian frontier — an area where some 10,000 U.S. soldiers are hunting the Viet Cong.

The light clash today came when a reconnaissance patrol of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, airborne division hit what was apparently a covering force of North Vietnamese regulars.

Details of the action were scant, the spokesman said, but the U.S. forces were pressing on into the area.

The 4th (Ivy) Division, based at Ft. Lewis, Wash., is commanded by Maj. Gen. A. S. Collins Jr. It is best known for its D-Day landing on Utah Beach in France in World War II. It also claims to be the first allied unit to reach German soil in that war. In World War I, it fought in the Meuse-Argonne campaign, among others.

The rest of the division is expected to arrive in South Viet Nam in the near future. U.S. officials have predicted that 350,000 to 400,000 troops will be here by the end of the year.

Police Get Lead; Search Begins

A manhunt, which has taken a Dixon police officer more than 100 miles so far today in search of a forger suspect, began this morning because of an alert Dixon citizen and a Telegraph story Friday.

Det. Sgt. Ed Trotter this morning left Dixon for Elgin accompanied by a manager of the Dixon Hotel and two other hotel employees in search of a man who cashed a check at the hotel Thursday.

According to authorities, a Dixon man said he saw a truck driver in Dixon who possibly fit the description of a man wanted by Illinois authorities and the FBI for forgery and which was carried in a Telegraph story Friday.

Trotter picked up a lead that the suspect was heading for Elgin and later supposedly for Canada. At the Elgin police department this morning, Trotter

Price Hike Threatens Space Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, acting after a wave of steel price boosts he did not challenge, has warned that such increases could force a cutback in government spending on projects such as the space program.

The President coupled the signing Friday of a bill authorizing $5 billion for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration with this warning to business and union leaders:

"If particular segments of our economy continue to raise their prices and increase the cost of this and other programs, it will be necessary for the government to further reduce its expenditures, particularly in those areas where prices are rising in an inflationary way."

Although Johnson made no direct reference to this week's price increases in the steel industry, it was clear that his statement was prompted by that move and last week's rejection by the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists of an airlines contract calling for increases reported to be between 6 and 7 per cent. Acceptance of the contract would have ended the month-old walkout against five major airlines.

The White House has labeled the steel price hikes inflationary, but the industry called the $2 to $3 a ton boosts inconsequential and modest.

In his statement, Johnson said the maintenance of the space program depends on the cooperation of "major business leaders and union leaders."

"If we are to continue our space effort and continue to make the magnificent progress represented by our past achievements," the chief executive said, "we can do so only if business and labor leaders will make their contribution by responsible pricing and bargaining decisions."

Despite the President's strong words, the administration apparently does not intend any dramatic moves to counter the price hikes.

The boosts, initiated by Inland Steel Co. Tuesday, affect sheet and strip steel, which comprise about 30 per cent of the industry's output. Some estimate the industry boosts will increase the cost to the auto industry — main user of sheet and strip steel — by about $1.50 per car.

The new prices go into effect Wednesday.

Jeering Mobs Rush Negroes

CHICAGO (AP) — Racial violence wracked a tidy all-white neighborhood Friday for the second time this week and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who was felled by a rock, said the eruption was fostered by the worst hate he has ever seen.

King promised the marchers he would return to the area. More than 6,000 frenzied white residents of the Southwest Side Chicago Lawn neighborhood rioted during and after a march by 800 civil rights demonstrators.

The civil rights group is demanding open housing. The Chicago Lawn residents say they had built up the neighborhood and that Negroes would degrade it.

A 19-year-old white youth was wounded in the shoulder by a knife thrown towards King during the march. The youth was released after hospital treatment.

Police arrested 39 white persons, including 37 women. Hospitals said 28 persons were brought in with injuries.

"It hurts, but it's not an injury," King shouted above the cursing, screaming, jeering mob in Marquette Park after he fell to one knee when a rock hit his head.

"I have to do this — to expose myself — to bring this hate into the open," King shouted to newsmen. "I have never seen such hate — not in Mississippi or Alabama — as I see here in Chicago."

King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, got to his feet, ripped off his tie and began forming

City Lays Law Down to 30 Property Owners

Some 30 property owners, mostly in the southwest side of the city, will soon be told by city officials to either make repairs to buildings on their land, or tear them down after condemnation proceedings are completed by the city.

Results of a preliminary survey of the proposed condemnations which was conducted during the past two weeks by four appointed officials will be submitted to the City Council Tuesday.

Committee members are: Capt. Elwood Cruse, Dixon Fire Department; Kenneth Sheely, deputy state fire marshal; Ed Callahan, building inspector; and Lou Villano, who is in charge of health and sanitation.

According to Cruse, a list of the buildings recommended by the committee for condemnation will be made public during Tuesday's council meeting.

Mayor George Lindquist said today the unkept buildings in the city pose a threat to the safety of children, are unattractive and are fire hazards which also are conducive to breeding rats and vermin.

Capt. Cruse said "the property owners will just have to realize the city isn't fooling around anymore and they'll either have to correct the problem, or condemnation proceedings will be started against them."

Mayor Lindquist also said an official committee will be formed Tuesday to make further examinations based on the preliminary report. Under a state provision, property owners will have to make necessary corrections or condemnation proceedings will be initiated.

One member of the four-man committee today said there are some 30 buildings which will be condemned if repairs are not made. "Two of the buildings are still occupied, the others are not," he said.

He said most of the other buildings are old houses, sheds, privies and garages which have deteriorated.

Villano, who recently was named to the post formerly held by Ben Boyd, is a former Rockford resident and is responsible for more than 300 condemnations of unsafe buildings in that area.

While the present committee is only making the preliminary survey for the city, most of the members will probably remain as a committee in an official capacity after Tuesday's council meeting.

Nixon: War May Be Lost In America

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today the war "will not be lost in Viet Nam, but it could be lost at home." He spoke to newsmen after a military briefing.

Nixon had denounced American critics of U.S. policy in Viet Nam at a news conference after his arrival Friday. He charged that this criticism was prolonging the war by encouraging the enemy "and preventing the very negotiations the critics say they want."

The former Republican presidential candidate received a two-hour briefing on the military situation this afternoon from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Later, Nixon said that short of successful diplomatic measures, "which are unexpected at this point, I cannot see an early end to the war. When you see it in historical perspective, we've made steady progress, and eventual success is assured."

This is Nixon's fifth visit to Viet Nam since 1953. He said he believed the commitment of American ground troops plus the decision to bomb North Viet Nam had turned the war from one of impending defeat for the allies to "a situation now where the initiative is definitely on our side."

Earlier in the day Nixon received reports from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, his running mate in the 1960 presidential election, and other American officials on South Viet Nam's political and economic outlook.

Low Bidder For Projects In Ogle Co.

A Wisconsin construction company is the apparent low bidder on two road projects in Ogle County, according to Public Works Director Francis S. Lorenz.

Rein, Schultz and Dahl, Inc., Madison, Wis., submitted bids totaling $101,552 for the two projects.

The company bid $82,665 for pouring 4.75 miles of concrete from U.S. 52, three miles north-west of Polo and $18,887 for .93 mile of concrete from Illinois 72, a mile southeast of Byron.

the demonstrators into a line for the march.

King, who spends two or three days a week in Chicago working on a campaign to eliminate slums, said after the march:

"We shall have to keep coming back until we are safe from harassment. Until Negroes can move into the neighborhood the tenets of freedom will continue to decay."

Violence first broke out in Chicago Lawn, 7½ miles from downtown Chicago, last Sunday. Sixty persons were injured, 17 were arrested and more than 30 of the marchers' cars were burned.

The demonstration Friday began in the racially tense area when four groups went to separate real estate offices to picket. When the demonstrators milled into Marquette Park, a scenic, recreation area, to form for the march, they were met with jeers, catcalls, curses, rocks and bottles from the white residents, mostly youths.

More than 2,000 whites milled around King after he was struck, screaming "white power" and throwing rocks. They also stopped cars which brought the marchers into the area.

Residents perched in trees and dropped eggs, fire crackers and rocks on the marchers. The marchers — white and Negro, men and women, priests and nuns — marched slowly and doggedly forward.

Some residents stood on their front porches taking motion pictures of the scene.

'I Am Prepared To Die' Whitman Informs World

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "I am prepared to die. After my death I wish an autopsy on me to be performed to see if there's any mental disorders."

Charles J. Whitman thus informed the world — in notes left near the murdered bodies of his wife and mother — that he did not expect to survive the Monday violence he inflicted on the University of Texas campus.

The Associated Press learned exclusively today the precise wording of major portions of the notes.

The source, an official who requested anonymity, declined to divulge large portions of the two notes which he said included "statements about Whitman's father."

In a two-page note left in his Austin apartment, near the nude body of his pretty blonde wife, Whitman wrote of his impulses and pain and compulsions that mystified him.

"I don't quite understand what is compelling me to type this note," he began.

"I've been to a psychiatrist. I've been having fears and violent impulses. I've had some tremendous headaches in the past."

"I am prepared to die. After my death, I wish an autopsy on me to be performed to see if there's any mental disorders."

There followed one of numerous statements about his father, the source said, and then Whitman told his plans for his wife.

"I've decided to kill Kathy" — Kathleen Whitman, his wife — "tonight. I love her very much."

Whitman then again wrote of his father.

Then: "I intend to kill my wife after I pick her up from work. I don't want her to have to face the embarrassment that my actions will surely cause her."

At this point, Whitman apparently was interrupted. The rest of the note was in handwriting. It began:

"At 3 a.m. both dead."

The rest of the note, the source said, concerned Whitman's feelings and his relationship with his father. According to statements released from other sources, the University of Texas student mentioned in the handwritten portion that he "hated his father with a mortal passion."

The neatly hand-printed note found at the plush apartment of his mother was addressed to "to whom it may concern" and began:

"I have just killed my mother."

month-old interview which has offended some disc jockeys and others in the United States was:

"Christianity will go. It will vanish and shrink. I needn't argue about that; I'm right and it will be proved right. We're more popular than Jesus now. I don't know which will go first — rock 'n' roll or Christianity."

"Jesus was all right but His disciples were thick and ordinary. It's them twisting it that ruins it for me."

So far about 20 U.S. radio stations have banned Beatle records. The ban is spreading to other countries.

Brian Epstein, manager of the Beatles, said in New York the British singers will fulfill their American engagements starting next week despite the "Ban the Beatles" move.

Epstein said Friday, "they will arrive in Chicago as scheduled on Aug. 11" for a 19-day tour.

Meanwhile, Beatle George Harrison stirred up more trouble. In an interview with a musical paper he commented on the British government and its proposal to ban pirate radio stations which pump out pop music and lard in commercial advertising which is banned on British airwaves.

He was quoted as saying: "Why don't they make the crummy BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation) illegal as well. The government makes me sick. This is becoming a police state. They should leave the pirates alone. At least they have had a go which is more than the BBC have done."

Must File Tax Return

CHICAGO — Owners of trucks, truck-trailers, or buses may be among taxpayers who must file a Federal highway use tax return this month, according to E. C. Coyle, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue Service.

Certain truck, truck-trailer, and bus owners must file Form 2290 and pay a yearly highway use tax on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the vehicle is first used in the tax year. The tax year begins on July 1 and runs through the following June 30.

Nabbed for Not Paying Peoria Fines

Deputy sheriffs about midnight arrested a Dixon man wanted in Peoria County for non-payment of fines he received in Magistrate Court there on June 6 for several traffic violations.

Held today in county jail for Peoria County authorities is Frank O. Wetzel, 801 Third St., who was fined June 6 on charges of reckless driving; speeding; attempting to elude police and two counts of stop sign violations. All charges stemmed from the same incident.

When Wetzel was fined in June, the court apparently made an agreement for payment on a weekly basis, according to authorities. The man apparently fell behind in his payments, and a warrant for his arrest was issued by Peoria authorities.

Deputy sheriffs Arnold Rankin and Ronald Linscott, arrested Wetzel at home, authorities said.

Police . . .

learned the man might be in Des Plaines, where he went at about 10 a.m.

Thus far, the man is only a suspect and may not be the man sought for forgery, but police said, they are tracing every possible lead.

Apparently the man, who uses the name of Harold Farley has cashed some $20,000 in bogus checks since last November in Illinois and three other states.

He is described as 25 years old, and wearing work clothes. He is about five feet, six inches tall with blonde hair and a crew cut.

A further development in the case is that a police officer from the Wilmington, Illinois police department said he was informed by State Police that a man named Harold Farley is presently in the Indiana State Penitentiary and would be questioned to see if he knew who might be using his name on the bogus checks.

Terry was arrested Friday on a complaint signed by his wife, Linda, which states he "hit her about the face and head with his fists."

The incident occurred at the corner of College Ave. and Sixth St., according to police.

Salad Delight

The tomatoes in the photo above held by Robert Folk, custodian of the John Deere Historical site, Grand Detour, would be a delight in any salad. Folk measured the larger tomato at some 17 inches in diameter. He maintains a small patch of land on the site which he uses to grow assorted vegetables and flowers.

17 Foot Sunflower

Texans have nothing on Robert Folk, custodian of the John Deere Historical site in Grand Detour. In the above photo, Folk points to one of three sunflowers of amazing height, 17 feet. Two others near his home are 16 feet and 14 feet. Folk said the plants are three years old and grew from seeds which he threw out to feed birds. The birdseed contained sunflower seed and the plants sprung up.

Nothing Special About 1st Lt. Nugent's Day

HILL 65, South Viet Nam (AP) — On the day of his brother Patrick's wedding to Luci Baines Johnson, 1st Lt. Gerard (Jerry) Nugent led his company of U.S. Marines on a lonely windswept hill in South Viet Nam. Today was a routine day.

Gerard, 24, commands Echo Company, 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines. By coincidence, he marks his own first wedding anniversary Sunday.

Gerard spent part of his brother's wedding day cleaning his personal weapon, a 45-caliber pistol. At 3 p.m. he held a meeting of his lieutenants and senior noncommissioned officers.

Jerry is a handsome, mustached professional with three years in the corps. He says he has been little affected by the romance of his brother.

"I've done my job just the same as any company commander," he said. "Naturally, I've taken some kidding about it, but it really hasn't affected my work or my career."

But at the moment he's probably the most talked about lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

His top kick, M. Sgt. Ralph Balora, 40, a 22-year Marine veteran, says: "Lots of times guys ask us, 'Who is your C.O. (commanding officer)?' And you say, 'Lt. Nugent.' Then they say, 'Hey, that's the guy who's marrying the President's daughter.' Then we say 'No, but his brother is.'"

Gunnery Sgt. Floyd Litchford, 42, of Fort Smith, Ark., in the Marines for 23 years, says, "Yep, we've got the best-known C.O. in the Marines."

Nugent has been in Viet Nam since January. Before that he served on Okinawa and now awaits orders for other duty, probably in the United States.

'Art Colony Look' Back At Taft Field Campus

OREGON — The "art colony look" is back at the Lorado Taft Field Campus, at one time the site of a summer art colony.

Near where famous sculptor Lorado Taft years ago worked with his students on a statue, a Northern Illinois University art professor and his graduate students have built an outdoor kiln with donated fire bricks.

Too, there is a new screened-in shelter, erected by NIU physical plant forces in time for summer classes. It provides an airy work area for students making pottery and ceramics.

Also, there is a small, low-level outdoor kiln near the larger one. The need for this resulted when Cecil G. Strawn Jr., associate prof. of art, introduced his students to the Raku "attitude." This is an American version of a Japanese tea ceremony using fired-on-the-spot cups for drinking.

Taft, the NIU branch campus overlooking the Rock River here, has featured summer art courses before but this is the first year its physical appearance has been changed materially by the erection of special art facilities. It also is the first year Taft has had an art professor in summer residence.

While other art instructors were teaching painting and drawing on Harrison Hall's first floor, teacher-in-residence Strawn was holding forth at the "new shelter," as it was dubbed, or at the kilns. Earlier this century, Taft was the site of an art colony under the direction of the late Taft, for whom the 15-year-old field campus was named.

Strawn this summer put to use experience in kiln building he gained during 1962-63 sabbatical studies in California. He wanted to start a kiln at Taft because kiln construction is becoming an important part of graduate study in pottery and ceramics.

The LaSalle Canyon Quarry at Ottawa donated five loads of fire bricks. Graduate students and Strawn donated time in their non-class hours. Only costs to the University for the loose-brick structure and the Raku kiln are incidental ones. Strawn estimates total value of the larger kiln at $3,000.

The kiln has a catenary arch. The pattern was made by allowing a chain, its ends attached to the edge of a plywood board, to fall freely. Once the arch outline was obtained, the "arch" was inverted and a wooden form was completed.

When the 9-inch thick arch of bricks was finished, the wooden form was removed. The ends of the kiln were completed by inserting bricks endwise. Flue lining, bound together with steel angle irons, forms the stack.

Future plans, Strawn said, call for surrounding the kiln with an Oriental rock garden for an aesthetic arrangement.

For Raku, his students mixed fire clay with silica sand. The sand is mined southwest of here. After forming cups on a potter's wheel, the students hardened them in an electric kiln. Then, glaze and oxides were added to the cups' exteriors and were melted "red hot" in the Raku kiln.

Next, the cups were thrown into a nest of pine needles for 10 to 60 seconds to reduce the metallic oxide to a metallic state through incomplete burning. This gave them a red or brownish appearance. Dashed quickly under cold water, the cups cooled enough in 60 to 90 seconds for tea drinking.

Reserves Besieged by Inadequate Equipment

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — Computers are not always right.
Reshuffling by Defense Secretary McNamara has in some cases cut the over-all readiness of Army, National Guard and other reserve units to meet a national emergency.
Even McNamara's elite Selected Reserve Force units are finding the re-enlistment rate of their critical personnel has dropped. They're finding it difficult to attract and hold sufficient junior officers beyond their required service.
These units are being forced to fill in with less experienced junior officers, noncommissioned officers and men.
Especially short are helicopter and winged aircraft pilots and mechanics, radar technicians and engineer and signal officers and NCOs.
In the Army's aviation reserve sections the situation is intensified as the reserve units lose skilled aviation men to the airlines.
Overall, the number of untrained reservists in Army units including the National Guard is expected to grow by 38,000 this year.
This unhappy news follows almost a year of intensive work by hundreds of thousands of reservists, many of whom believed they were getting ready to be called into active duty for Viet Nam or as a backup for some other world crisis.
The equipment picture is not good though the special Selected Reserve Force units, by and large have more than they had a year ago.
In many cases the Selected Reserve Force units have the equipment because other Army

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: You recently said something that worries me. You were writing about a group of boys with irresponsible "pal" type fathers and how they regarded their mothers as "dominating ogres" for trying to establish some control of them. You said that mothers married to unmarried men were mistaken to try to be substitute fathers. What else can we do, Mrs. Lawrence? Surely you didn't mean that we should just let the children go haywire.

ANSWER: No, I don't think we can just let the children go haywire. But I think it's even more important not to let ourselves go haywire.

It's vital that we remember we are women who need a man's strength instead of pretending we don't. Married to an undeveloped man, it is only too easy to tell

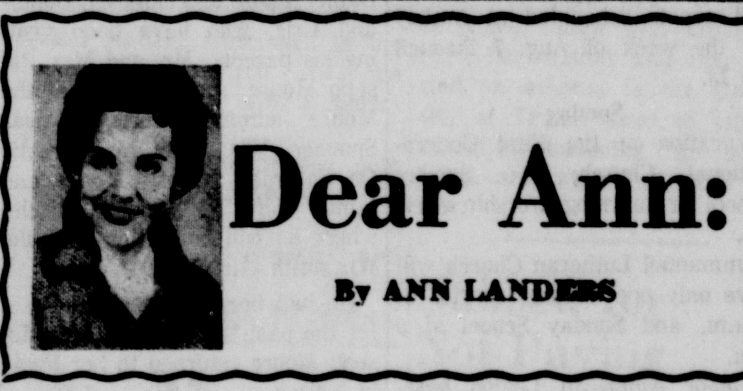

What the Well-Dressed Briton Will Wear

ROSS LEWIS, MICHIGAN JOURNAL

"Frankly, kids, the way interest rates are going up—better borrow as much as you can!"

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am employed as a personnel director of a large company. Every day I interview dozens of young men and women who are looking for jobs. Some days I could cry.
Scads of teen-agers come in without high school diplomas. They want to work but they are not qualified to do anything. They must start at the bottom of the ladder. And they are doomed to stay there.
I hear the same story all day long. "I hate school. I want to get a job so my boy friend and I can get married. I want to move out of the house and be on my own."
Please let them see the following advice. Maybe they'll take it from you, Ann Landers.

- (1) Finish high school before you go job-hunting.
- (2) Dress appropriately when you apply for a job.
- (3) Don't crack gum or blow smoke in the interviewer's face.
- (4) Come in by yourself. Don't bring a girl friend, a boy friend, or a relative.
- (5) Act as if you really want to work.
- (6) Don't inquire about a pension plan when you come in for an interview.
- (7) Answer every question on the application. If you don't know the answer, put a dash beside the question so the personnel director will know you haven't overlooked it.

This letter in print could do an awful lot of good.—DEEPLY CONCERNED
Dear Deeply: I checked your suggestions with one of the top personnel directors in Chicago and he could add nothing to your list. Thank you for your fine counsel.

Dear Ann Landers: You recently printed a letter from a woman who signed her letter "Love Thy What?" I think I have her beat. Whenever our neighbor sees company drive up to our house, she decides to sweep out her street gutter or clip her rose bushes. At first she is content to just eavesdrop (we entertain often in the yard) but after a few minutes she horns in and joins the conversation as if she were an invited guest.

In one of her more benevolent moments she telephoned to say the lampshade in the front window was crooked and she was sure I'd want to straighten it. Although we resent the old buzzard we feel secure whenever we leave the house. She watches our place as closely as the F.B.I., the C.I.A. and Big Brother combined.
I won't sign my name to this letter because Mrs. See-All probably has her telescope trained on me at this very moment.—BELLWOOD BELLE Dear Belle: There can't be many women in Bellwood who have called up a neighbor lately to clue her in on a crooked lampshade. So now the old buzzard knows how you feel. You just may be free of her permanently.

Bruce Bioassat Freedom for All Periled by Misuse

WASHINGTON — The marks of the big offense against society are clearly seen by all: A sniper's mass slaughter of innocents on a university campus, the horror of eight nurses mutilated and murdered in their home, the blackened cars, burned-out hulks of buildings and rock-littered streets of a riot-torn city, the endless housebreakings and the beatings of innocent people.
But there are untold evidences, less obtrusive, illustrating how far the general level of American behavior falls below sensible standards of decency, honesty and safety.
Huge parks set aside for the pleasure and peace of mind of city dwellers are today a no-man's-land menaced by terrorist thieves and marauders. Great patches of America's big cities are unsafe for the innocent citizen by day or night. A telephone company spends $80 million a year to send its night operators home in taxis.
On some commuter train routes, it is mandatory for window-seat passengers to draw the blinds to protect themselves against flying glass, shattered by rock-throwing teenagers. Travelers on a high-speed expressway were stunned recently to find not rocks but boulders dropped on their cars from overpasses along a nine-mile stretch.
In a woody summer retreat, a man who had tried and failed for years to block trespassers paused in his latest effort, realizing that he was digging a moat.
The cost of vandalism in the nation's schools would build several hundred new ones a year. The cost of thievery from stores, offices, banks is an extra levy on the insurance policies most Americans pay.
For much of their lawlessness, many people offer an intriguing array of false alibis:

"I just went for a joyride . . . I was only borrowing it . . . What I took did not hurt anyone, it's covered by insurance . . . I did not think it belonged to anyone . . . Everybody else was doing it, so why shouldn't I?"
The truth which they conceal from themselves is quite different.

Today's burgeoning crime and lesser misbehavior has, of course, many causes. In this affluent world with booming population, there are more people to rob, more homes to be broken into, vastly more tempting goods to be snatched from open shelves, more challenging excitements in breaking the law than are found in the dull, orderly world where people earn what they get. There is also serious deprivation.
The notion is abroad that democracy means everyone is entitled to have quickly everything he wants. If he takes it instead of earning it, he finds surprising defenders in the intellectual community, who seem to argue that a good stock of material possessions equals freedom.
In the racial ferment of today, Negroes often are chided for wanting to set the law aside, for contesting the police and other constituted authorities. But those who do that have plenty of white company.

White men challenged by police frequently set upon them with fists and weapons. White parents summoned to the police station to see charges placed against their children sometimes wind up beating the police for daring to arrest them. White men have tried to excuse gang-rape as a "boy-hood prank."
The necessary authority of the police is so broadly challenged — by rebellious Negroes, defiant white offenders and intellectuals who think all policemen are sadists and Cossacks—that one is left to wonder what legitimate role they see for any restraining force in a free-wheeling, turbulent democratic society.

The most respected developing law today seems to be that which seeks to safeguard the rights of accused persons. It is almost forgotten that the general body of law is designed to safeguard the community against wrongful and harmful acts.
Too many Americans think such law is an unfair restriction upon their liberty. In their callous, thoughtless misuse of freedom, they have gone a good way toward damaging it for everyone.

Gleim-Colby Ceremony

ASHTON — Bouquets of white gladioli trimmed the altar of St. John's Lutheran Church, Ashton, when marriage vows were repeated by Miss Barbara Gleim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam C. Gleim, Rt. 2, Franklin Grove, and Ronald J. Colby, Dixon, son of the William Colbys, South Weymouth, Mass., at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The double-ring wedding was performed by the Rev. Roland Belanger, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Lyle Warner provided organ accompaniment as Mrs. Dale Allen sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Prayer."

White tapers in seven-branched candelabras were also placed on the altar, and white satin bows were attached to the sanctuary pews.

Miss Joanne Gleim, Franklin Grove, and Mrs. Kurt Altenburg, Dixon, served as their sister's maid of honor and attendant, and Miss Susie Bay, Dixon, acted as ceremonial flower girl. Attending the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Kenneth Colby, Cambridge, Mass., and Mr. Altenburg, and wedding guests from Ashton, Franklin Grove, Dixon, Amboy, Polo, Chicago and from South Weymouth and Cambridge, Mass., were ushered by Paul Bay and Richard Metz, Dixon; Jack Bott, Polo, and Lyle Warner. Jeffrey Warner participated as ringbearer and carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow.

Saturday's bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown fashioned of white chantilly lace over nylon. The gown's bouffant skirt featured a flat front panel with attached tiers of sequin-embroidered lace extending into a chapel train. Pearls and sequins accented the Sabrina neckline of the gown's fitted bodice which was also styled with long sleeves ending in wristpoints, and a lace tiara studded with pearls and crystals held her tiered illusion veil. The pearl necklace she wore was a gift from Mr. Colby, and a white orchid centered her bridal bouquet of stephanotis and ivy.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD J. COLBY

White Venise lace trimmed the identical full length gowns of lime green Dacron sheer worn over matching taffeta by the bride's attendants. Their redingote skirts were topped by molded bodices designed with scooped necklines, elbow length sleeves and lace midriffs accented by back clusters of fabric roses which held floating lace panels. Their bow-trimmed headpieces of tiered nylon petals were trimmed with flowers and lime green blusher veils, and they carried cascades of pink glamelias and foliage.

A cummerbund and a lace-trimmed back panel of lime green accented the full length frock of white net worn by the flower girl, and white accessories complemented the costume of pink crepe and lace worn by Mrs. Gleim. White feathered carnations and Carol Amling roses formed her shoulder corsage.

The table arranged for a reception held in the church social hall following the service was covered with lime green net and decorations included a garland of foliage. A three-tiered wedding cake which centered the table was served by Mrs. Glen Gonnerman assisted by Miss Arlene Gleim and Miss Lynn Jacobs, and pouring coffee and punch were Miss Mary Ellen Wood and Miss Janet Hopkins. Women of the church assisted in serving refreshments, and gifts for the newlyweds were displayed by Mrs. Allen Wikoff, Miss Grace Wolf, Miss Cheryl Eich and Miss Ronda Page. Mrs. Melvin Engelbarts, Dixon, was in charge of the guest book.

The orchid from her bouquet and red accessories complemented the white lace suit worn by the new Mrs. Colby when the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. A 1965 graduate of Ashton High School, she is an employee of the Dixon Home Savings and Loan Association, and they will be residing at 301½ S. Galea Ave., Dixon.

Mr. Colby, who attended high school in South Weymouth and served three years in the Army as a member of the 82nd Airborne Division, is associated with Harnell Distributors in Dixon.

Miss McLean Weds Mr. Keeton in Lee

LEE—The Rev. Raymond Holmgren was officiating clergyman when marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Patricia Kathryn McLean and B. J. Keeton in a Nuptial Mass held Saturday morning in St. James Catholic Church, Lee.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Dale McLean and the Noie Keetons, Paw Paw.

Nuptial music by Mrs. R. H. Feld, organist, and Mrs. Eugene Schreengrost, vocalist, both of Earlville, included the selections, "Ave Marie" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother." The altar of the church was decorated with arrangements of pink gladioli and carnations, and bows of white satin were attached to the church pews.

The bride's floor length wedding gown fashioned of white bouquet taffeta and chantilly lace, was designed with a lace basque bodice featuring Juliet sleeves and a jeweled Sabrina neckline. A deep hemline border of scalloped lace accented the gown's bouffant skirt, and a lace wattleau train fell from her shoulders. Her bridal veil of imported silk illusion was held by a queen's crown of pearls, and the necklace she wore was a gift from the bridegroom. As she was escorted to the altar by her father, she carried a cascading bouquet of white glamelias and foliage.

Miss Geraldine Schnorr was the bride's maid of honor, and attendants were Mrs. Keith Florschuetz, Paw Paw, and Miss Terri Sue Czuchowski, Mendota, cousin of the bride. Their identical full length gowns of coquette blue peau de soie featured floating back panels and petal-cuffed sleeves of contrasting blue, and their pearl pendants were gifts from the bride. Pearl-trimmed crowns of blue braid were their headresses and pink glamelias were combined with foliage in the bouquets they carried.

Elvin Keeton, Paw Paw, was his brother's best man; groomsmen were Daniel McLean and Paul Keeton, Paw Paw, and ushering was done by Kenneth J. Kreitinger, Earlville, and William Heinzeroth, Paw Paw.

As flower girl for the ceremony, Miss Gay Lynn Iverson, Paw Paw, was attired in a frock similar to those worn by the attendants, and her headpiece was a bandeau of pink and white flowers. Flower petals filled the miniature basket she carried, and her necklace was a gift from the bride.

Mrs. McLean selected a blue lace frock and pink and white accessories for her daughter's wedding, and pink lace fashioned the dress worn with white accessories by the bridegroom's mother. Both chose corsages of glamelias and garnet roses.

Miss Peggy Clark, cousin of the bride, registered guests attending a wedding luncheon and reception held in the American Legion Hall following the service, and gifts for the couple were displayed by Mrs. Dennis Craddock and Miss Karen Kemling. A tiered cake centering the serving table was cut by Miss Kathy Schlesinger and Mrs. Roger Grinka, and coffee and punch were poured by Miss Sally Czuchowski, the bride's cousin, and Miss Debra Althaus.

MR. AND MRS. B. J. KEETON

They were assisted by Miss Faye Merriman and Mrs. Dennis Prentice, and members of the church Altar and Rosary Society were in charge of the luncheon.

and her husband who graduated in 1966 from the Paw Paw school, is an employee of Caterpillar Corporation in Aurora.

Guests attending the wedding were from Lee, Paw Paw, Mendota, Springfield, Shabbona, Watertown, Rochelle, Rockford, Ashton, Chicago, Cortland, Sandwich and from White Pigeon, Mich.

Mrs. Lennon Is Hostess for Jay-Cettes Party

Mrs. Philip Lennon was hostess at Thursday night's swimming party and meeting for Dixon Jay-Cette members at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Roberts, Plum Hollow Road.

During a business session, members of the ways and means committee announced plans for an approaching rummage sale to raise funds for the Jay-Cettes' annual civic project, and Mrs. Joseph Grygiel reported on a recent trip to Quincy as chaperone for Miss Ruth Krug who represented Dixon in the Miss Illinois contest finals.

Mrs. Cecil Lovdahl was introduced as a new member of the organization, and Mrs. Richard Piller attended as a guest.

Anniversary of Dixon Couple Is Celebrated

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fordham was celebrated at a Sunday afternoon reception in their home at 516 Grant Ave., when hosts were Mrs. Fordham's sisters and brothers.

The honorees were married July 30, 1941, in Bethel EC Church, and are parents of three children, Gary, a sophomore at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb; Susan, a Dixon High School junior, and John, an eighth grade student at Lincoln Elementary School.

The Fordhams were presented a group gift from the reception guests and a decorated anniversary cake was served with punch and coffee by Mrs. John Ankney, Miss Minnie Lefevre and Mrs. John Scholl.

Sewing Hints For Complete Wardrobe

For the woman who sews, making five and five add up to 15 is no trick. It's a matter of applying fashion arithmetic to a few basic patterns and coming up with a complete vacation wardrobe.

By carefully coordinating colors and textures, you can use just three patterns to create a 10-piece wardrobe that can be mixed and matched for 15 different looks.

Typical of the mix-magic at the fingertips of the woman who sews is a weekend wardrobe that costs only $35 to make. It's built around three basic patterns: a coat-and-dress ensemble; a suit with its own shell blouse; and a three-piece pants outfit.

Six cotton fabrics—ranging from summer-pale corduroy to a sheer lawn print—were chosen for their ease of care and cool comfort.

All fabrics echo a basic color scheme to allow easy switching of wardrobe parts.

In adapting a similar plan for your own vacation wardrobe, select a floral or abstract cotton print with two or more main colors. Use this fabric for a shell blouse and skirt. Then choose solid fabrics in these same colors for making a coat, suit jacket, skirt, and bellbottoms.

Unit Picnic

A picnic luncheon has been planned by members of the South Dixon Homemakers Extension Unit for Tuesday noon in Lowell Park.

Prevention of Facial Wrinkles

Wrinkles are inevitable. However, why should a woman give in to creases and crow's-feet hastened by neglect? She needn't.

Wrinkles are something teenagers and their trivia-playing grandmothers have in common. And both age groups may use the same techniques to ease the problem.

Many bad habits causing facial lines can be eliminated.

Exercise also keeps the facial and neck muscles supple and checks excessive lining due to weakening of the facial tissue.

Extension Unit Knitting Class To Meet Tuesday

Mrs. George Kobler, 1010 Academy St., will be hostess to members of the Dixon Evening Homemakers Extension Unit knitting class at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Who's New Club

Tuesday's 1 p.m. luncheon in the Nachusa House for members of the Who's New Club, will be followed by an afternoon of bridge games.

Packers Crush All Stars

Taylor Smashes 75 Yards for 15

CHICAGO (AP)—"Revenge?" Vince Lombardi mulled the question, then said: "I don't believe in the word. I can't remember as far back as 1963."

But everyone knows that elephants and Vince Lombardi never forget, and in 1963 the College All-Stars whipped Lombardi's Green Bay Packers 20-17.

So even Lombardi had to admit that "the boys were really up for this one" when they completely crushed the richest assemblage of All-Star talent in history 38-0 Friday before a crowd of 72,000.

The National Football League champions not only matched the biggest previous shutout in the 33-game series while amassing 388 yards on the ground and in the air but also throttled their own million-dollar babies, Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski.

Gain 24 Yards
The two Packers rookies, Anderson with a $600,000 price tag and Grabowski with a $300,000 label, handled the ball seven times between them and wound up gaining 24 yards.

While Grabowski and Anderson were being embarrassed, the two running backs they hope to replace, Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, combined with quarterback Bart Starr as the Packers rolled relentlessly through the All-Star defense.

Taylor ripped off 75 yards in 15 carries and scored on runs of one and 13 yards. Hornung carried nine times for 44 yards and set up one touchdown before he had the wind knocked out of him and left. Starr completed 13 of 22 passes for 177 yards, hitting Boyd Dowler with a 10-yard touchdown pass and firing a 13-year scoring strike to Bill Anderson.

The other Green Bay touchdown was scored by Herb Adderley on a 34-yard run with an interception. Don Chandler kicked a 17-yard field goal.

The All-Stars, unable to penetrate past the Green Bay 45 in the first half while Steve Sloan of Alabama and Billy Anderson of Tulsa were handling the quarterbacking chores, had their biggest moment in the third quarter when Missouri quarterback Gary Lane raced 57 yards to the six.

The Packers, however, stiffened and took over with the ball on the 13.

Lane, the property of the NFL's Cleveland Browns; defensive back Nick Rassas of Notre Dame and Atlanta of the NFL; and defensive back Rodger Bird of Kentucky and Oakland of the American League were among the All-Star standouts.

Minnesota Vikings

CARL ELLER

BILL BROWN

OFFENSE

PASSING—By now Francis Tarkenton should be scrambling less and enjoying it more. At least, Dutch Van Brocklin would. Fran's got every quality to be great except a super arm. And he's no dud passing. Ron VanderKelen's waited so long in wings he's itchy to be traded. RATING—B+.

RECEIVING—Now taking on appearance of set unit after five years. Paul Flatley's a cinch at split end, Hal Bedsole at tight end—with flanker situation in hands of Tom Hall or Jim Phillips. No super speed there, but they've all got good hands. Rookie Doug Meers replaces retired Gordy Smith. RATING—B+.

RUNNING—As good as any in football, when Tommy Mason's healthy. But the Human Projectile's always going to get hurt some place along the line with his reckless style. Bill Brown's a solid fullback, especially potent as a receiver. Depth has been injected with signing of Arkansas' Jim Lindsey. RATING—A-.

LINE—There's a spot open for one tackle. Maybe Archie Sutton will show why Vikings bid high for him a year ago. Or it'll be Doug Davis of Kentucky. Potential weak point. Respectable everywhere else with all-pro Mick Tingelhoff in middle, Larry Bowie and Milt Sunde at guards, and Grady Alderman, only original expansion draftee, at left tackle. RATING—B-.

KICKING—Tops on both counts. Bobby Walden kicks high and deep on punts. Fred Cox did terrific job in field goal department, though Van Brocklin would like to see him kick off deeper. RATING—A-.

DEFENSE

LINE—If Carl Eller and Jim Marshall, the ends, deliver the pass rush they're capable of, Vikings have no worries. Gary Larsen and Paul Dickson will hold down the middle O.K., bolstered by top draftee Jerry Shay of Purdue. Eller, Marshall can also be jogged by the job threat presented by young Bill Briggs of Iowa. RATING—B.

LINEBACKING—Should be perturbed by apparent retirement decision of middle Rip Hawkins, natural leader of the defense. Surprisingly they're not because Lonnie Warwick's expected to do just as well and provide better range. Roy Winston, John Kirby are steady on corners, backed by rookie Don Hansen. RATING—B.

SECONDARY—Too much juggling of position killed them last year. They've got to stay with George Rose, Ed Sharrockman as the vital corner backs. Early candidates to fill the safety roles are Karl Kassulke and Jeff Jordan, but they'll have to hustle to ward off Ron Ackis. RATING—B-.

SUMMARY—Vikings were so sky high on chances last year that it'll probably help them to have heat off as contender. People doubt their staying power. But they're still a young team, with sparks like Tarkenton and Mason. The Dutchman keeps them hustling. If rookies provide depth, look out. PREDICTION—SECOND

Dixonites Successful In Aurora Net Tourney

The Northern Illinois Tennis Association Doubles Tournament held in Aurora seemed to be quite a successful trip for the 25 Dixon entries as they pushed their ways to victories.

The first title to be decided was the 14 and under girls. Chris Hubbs and Judy Boward volleyed their way to prominence over many capable opponents to gain the championship against another Dixon pair, Sue Blackburn and Jean Kellen.

Wenden Sets World Record

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Michael Wenden has competed in only one event in the British Empire Games and so far has set one world record, helped set another and grabbed a gold medal.

"Would you believe that I could do so much in my first international match?" the tall, blond 16-year-old from Australia asked Friday night.

He and teammates Peter Reynolds, David Dixon and Bob Windle had just set a world mark of 8:07.3 in the 880-yard men's freestyle relay.

And Wenden, who swam the first 220 yards, was timed in 1:57.4, another world mark. It is allowed for consideration as a world record because it was on the first leg.

A Canadian team of Elaine Tanner, Jane Hughes, Louise Kennedy and Marion Lay also established a world mark, 4:10.8 for the women's 440-yard freestyle relay.

Those were the only two finals on the opening day of competition, but Wenden set a games record of 54 seconds flat in winning his heat of the 110-yard freestyle.

Blackburn and Kellen walked off with the first five games of the match taking a 5-0 lead, just to have the eventual champions, Hubbs-Boward make an amazing come-back to take seven straight games to win the first set 7-5.

In the second set the underlying desire to defeat their opponents brought both teams to the top of their games. With many well-placed and steady shots Chris Hubbs and Judy Boward downed their opponents 7-5, 6-3.

In the semi-finals still another Dixon duo played Hubbs-Boward to fight for the title. Kathy Rich, Jean Boward took two fine victories over two different Aurora tandems both close matches. Rich-Boward lost to the eventual victors 6-1, 6-0.

The youngest pair of this draw was the Dixon future stars Colby Covert and Susie Hubbs, 8 and 9 years old who defeated two 14 year old Aurora girls 6-0, 6-2 then they gave Burry-Jurgensen, third and, a tough pull 6-2, 5-7.

Old Timers To Play All-Stars

The annual game between the Old Timers and the City League All-Stars will be played August 21 at 7 p.m. at Reynolds Field.

A second game between two Old Timers teams will follow at 9 p.m. Anyone interested in playing on one of the Old Timers teams is asked to call Orville Brindle at 284-6359.

Some of the Old Timers who have already signed up to play are the Carlson brothers, the Sloan brothers, Shires Miller and Hank Henry.

Sunday night the City League All-Stars will host the Mount Morris Farm Supply team in a game to begin at 7 p.m. at Reynolds.

Grabo Glad He's With Green Bay

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers contend they weren't out for revenge when they manhandled the College All-Stars 38-0 Friday, but their victory might prove to be a costly one.

Donny Anderson, the Texas Tech halfback who received $600,000 to sign with the Packers was limping in the All-Star dressing room after the game.

Anderson, who started out as a flanker back, suffered the injury the first time he carried the ball as a running back.

Defeated 20-17

The Packers, who were defeated 20-17 by the All-Stars in 1963, were up for this game although Coach Vince Lombardi discounted any thoughts of revenge.

"Revenge? I don't believe in the word," said Lombardi. "I can't remember as far back as 1963, but the boys were really up for this one."

Fullback Jim Grabowski of Illinois, who got nearly $300,000 for signing with the Packers, called the All-Star performance a little embarrassing.

"I sure wish we had gone a little better than we did," said Grabowski. "It got a little embarrassing out there. But I'm sure glad I'm going to the Packers. They're a real good team."

Sauer Disappointed

Head Coach John Sauer of the All-Stars couldn't hide his disappointment, but he dismissed all notions that the Packers were trying to run up a score to avenge their 1963 loss.

"Vince isn't that kind of a guy, and I know he wouldn't do anything like that," Sauer said.

"Green Bay is a good team, and they had all the psychology going for them. I can't cry about our loss. We knew we had weaknesses, and we tried to cover them up the best way we could."

"There are certain things you need in a game like this, and we didn't have them. You just can't go out and get other players."

"Our pass protection fell apart, and we didn't expect that, because it had stood up that, because it had stood up in practice."

Ona Wins Championship

Ona of Edgetowne, a German Shepherd female owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brauer of Dixon, is pictured as she completed her championship recently at the Fox River Valley Dog Show at St. Charles. Ona defeated 41 other German Shepherds to take the top prize. Ona is handled by Denise Kodner, Highland Park; the judge presenting the award is Mary Stoddard.

Santo's Single in 10th Thwarts Giants, 4-3

They're throwing at Ron Santo's head again, but his bat keeps getting in the way.

The Cub third baseman was out of the lineup for 10 days earlier this season with a fractured cheekbone, courtesy of an errant pitch by Jack Fisher of the Mets. Friday, Bob Bolin of the Giants took a couple of shots at him.

They didn't go any good, though. Santo hit two home runs and a two-run single in the 10th that gave Chicago a 4-3 victory.

Santo's first homer came off Bolin in the second inning and when Ron appeared at the plate again in the third he suddenly found himself studying the chalk around the batters' box close. Eventually, Bolin struck him out.

Hits 25th Homer

Happy with that result, Bolin tried it again when Santo led off the bottom of the ninth with San Francisco leading 2-1. But he climbed out of the dirt and hit his 25th homer of the season, sending the game into overtime.

In other National League games, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh, 4-3. St. Louis beat New York 7-1, Atlanta crushed Philadelphia 9-2 and Los Angeles bounced Houston 12-1.

By the time Santo came up in the 10th, Bolin had given way to Frank Linzy but the Giants had gone ahead 3-2 on Tito Fuentes' homer in the top of the inning. The Cubs loaded the bases, though, and with one out Ron cracked the single that won it.

The Giants are now one percentage point behind the league-leading Pirates, who bowed to Gordy Coleman's tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning. The victory was the Reds' sixth in a row, 11th of their last 12 and 16th of their last 19.

End Drought

The Cards clubbed three homers off the Mets, the most productive being Tim McCarver's three-run shot in the ninth. Julian Javier had one with a man on, and Tito Francona contributed a solo blast. Rookie southpaw Steve Carlton won his first major-league game, holding the Mets to six hits.

The Braves came up with five runs in the ninth inning in snapping the Phillies' winning streak at seven games. Joe Torre and Denis Menke hit homers in the ninth after the Phils had come from two runs back in the sixth. Torre's homer was his 27th of the season.

Sandy Koufax became the major leagues' first 18-game winner as Los Angeles jumped on Houston early and often. Koufax left the game after six innings, though the Dodgers were quick to say that nothing was wrong with him, they just didn't want him to over-exert himself. Sandy struck out 10 Astros in those six innings.

Clay Heavily Favored Tonight

LONDON (AP) — World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay defends his title against brawling Brian London of Britain at Earls Court indoor stadium tonight and the bookies reckon Clay should win by a mile.

At 6-1 against, London, a 32-year-old veteran with a face like a dented dustbin, is being written off as a lost cause.

London arrived from his Blackpool training camp Friday night and confessed to being a bit nervous.

"Nervous—but great," he added. Clay looked so relaxed that some observers felt there was a danger he might go to sleep on the stool.

The fight is Clay's second in London within 10 weeks. He stopped British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper on a badly cut eye in round six.

Cards Snap Losing Streak

NEW YORK (AP) — Red Schoendienst prescribed "Operation Shake Well" for the floundering St. Louis Cardinals Friday and the Red Birds apparently decided to pass on the jolts to the New York Mets.

The Cardinals beat the Mets, 7-1, in New York on a three-run homer by Tim McCarver in the ninth, a two-run blast by Julian Javier in the seventh and a solo shot by Tito Francona. It was their first win in seven starts.

Part of Schoendienst' "Operation Shake Well" was a decision to give outfielder Curt Flood a rest and put Francona in the starting line-up.

The victory gave Steve Carlton his first major league win.

Miss Ticken Wins Title

GRANITE CITY—Terri Ticken, one of the three Dixon competitors in the JayCee Sports Jam-boree here, won the midget girls hop, step and jump as the finals of the event opened.

Her winning effort was 27 feet, 1 1/4 inches. It was the only championship for Rockford area entrants.

Polo's midget boys 220 team was fourth in its heat and failed to qualify for the finals.

Ernest Smith of Sterling won his heat of the midget boys 75-yard dash in 10 seconds flat and will be in the finals today. Gordon Harris, also of Sterling, qualified in the intermediate boys 220.

Mt. Carroll Downs Amboy

AMBOY—Amboy Junior Legion baseball team lost its second league game of the season on Thursday evening to Mount Carroll 6-3.

Amboy collected but four hits to Mount Carroll's five. Kessel started on the mound for Amboy. Whitney came in to relieve in the third, and Stan Greenfield in the fourth. Kessel took the loss.

Hanson on the mound for the visitors showed real good stuff to handcuff the Amboy power.

Milledgeville will come here for a league game Sunday, game time 2:15 p.m. at the field at the south edge of Green River Park.
